

The Water Industry Forum invites you to attend a seminar on:

Future challenges for the water industry - what are we going to do about them?

Monday 26th March 9.30am – 2pm The Rose Bowl, Portland Crescent, Leeds

The Water Industry Forum's aim is to bring the whole of the UK water industry together to tackle both the short and long term challenges faced by the industry. This in turn will create opportunities for the UK supply chain to deliver innovative solutions to these challenges in collaboration with other industry stakeholders.

This seminar will look at the challenges faced by the water industry and what needs to be done to deliver innovative solutions. It will feature presentations from key influencers from across the industry, with each speaker presenting their views on:

- what the future might look like for the industry in say 10 and/or 30 years time?
- what are the key challenges over those periods?
- what do we need to do make progress?
- what's getting in the way?

These will be followed by a panel/audience discussion around what's getting in the way of progress.
